

Ink and Blood (The Morton and Muir Trilogy Book 1)

What they don't know about themselves might get them killed. Martin Muir and Abigail Morton have been pen friends since childhood. For years they have shared information about themselves with one another, told one another things that not even their closest friends know, though there is one secret that Abigail has always kept. Despite their closeness, it still surprises both of them to realise their feelings for one another might run deeper than friendship. When Abigail agrees to Martin visiting her in her hometown of Hannerville, Tennessee, they both hope it might be the beginning of something very special. Unfortunately there is someone else in Hannerville with his eye on Abigail. Someone she and Martin are both connected to, but have no knowledge of. His name is Andrew Corday, he is a psychopath, and he wants them both dead. Together Abigail and Martin must try to unravel the mystery of their pasts, before Corday finishes preying on the citizens of Hannerville and comes after them.
