

Three Families (Arthur A. Lee Mystery and Adventure Series Book 1)

Three Families is the suspenseful story of a handsome, tough, Italian teen, Tony Moretti, whose goal is to work his way up through the local Mafia in Northern New Jersey. He begins his climb, and in the midst of the crime and killings, he falls in love with Teresa Falzone, the daughter of a Mafia Boss. The passionate love affair must be kept secret to protect them both from deadly consequences. As Teresa faces the brutality of an angry father, Tony forges a deadly path to try to make their love possible. He encounters the lust for power and money among three levels of the Mafia Family and the will to kill anyone who gets in the way. Will Tony and Teresa ever be able to be together, or will they both perish in the fight? The mystery, suspense and surprises of this thrilling novel will keep you turning page after page to see what happens next. The details of Mafia life and the crime family members in the 1950s and 1960s are surprisingly real in this crime thriller and are based on the author's own observations and experiences while growing up in a rough area of New Jersey. In the Mystery and Adventure Series, Lee explores the psyche of men who live in the world of crime. These men, like Joseph Cross in Wait Until The Dark Of Night and Tony Moretti in Three Families, do not run from danger; they run towards it without hesitation, relishing the fear and the rush that a near death experience provides. This results in a constant sense of suspense and intrigue for the reader, who has to wonder what will happen on the next page. Arthur A. Lee is also the author of the well-known Morgan Crew Murder Mystery Series.
